Service and Support Inspection and Reinstatement

Policy Statement

Allied Telesis Inc. ("Allied Telesis") requires that when:

- a. the standard warranty has ended,
- b. previously purchased contract has already expired or
- c. there has been a transfer of product ownership, the Allied Telesis equipment must be inspected by Allied Telesis or an Allied Telesis authorized inspector; product inspections performed by Allied Telesis will be chargeable. A Net.Cover support contract will only be offered where the Allied Telesis equipment is found to be in good working order upon inspection.

A reinstatement fee will be applied, the fees that would have been payable for Services for the period during which such Services lapsed, prior to placing such equipment under a new Net.Cover support contract. The reinstatement fee is equal to the fee for one (1) year, of the then current Net.Cover Preferred (AT-NCP1) Support Program. The reinstatement fee will apply for each year the Net.Cover contract has lapsed. The equipment will be eligible for any Net.Cover Support Program with the exception of Net.Cover Software, found on the then current price list, subject to regional availability and product status.

The inspection and reinstatement fees are non-refundable and are not included as part of the Net.Cover support contract fee. Allied Telesis requires that when a support contract has lapsed for a period of less than three (3) months, the new support contract will begin on the anniversary of the previous contract's effective date (the day following its expiration).

In the event the support contract on equipment has lapsed for a period of more than three (3) months, the new Net.Cover support contract will begin as per the contract term dates referenced on the Allied Telesis quotation.

Allied Telesis requires an inspection and a reinstatement fee for all products that were not originally purchased, by the then current owner of the equipment, from Allied Telesis or any Authorized Allied Telesis Partner. Additionally, Allied Telesis software is only licensed to the original purchaser and the license is not transferable. A registration fee is required to allow the legal use of the Allied Telesis software. Please check the registration fee pricing on the then current Allied Telesis Price List. The combination of the inspection or reinstatement fee with the registration fee will allow the equipment to be eligible for a support contract and to receive such services from Allied Telesis.

The product inspection is conducted to check that the equipment has been maintained in adherence to the support services procedures detailed in the product technical documentation, supplied with the equipment upon initial sale and the software installed is a currently supported release. All equipment must be inspected and deemed to be in good operating condition before it will be eligible for coverage on an Allied Telesis support contract.

Products that have reached End of Life (EOL) are not eligible for the purchase of a new support contract.

Prior to scheduling a product inspection, Allied Telesis will require that customers provide the following:

- a. an inventory of hardware and software;
- b. serial numbers of whole installed based, such as chassis, controller and line cards;
- c. a purchase order for reinstatement and software re license;
