

Allied Telesis, Inc. Provides Notice of Data Privacy Event

Allied Telesis, Inc. (“Allied Telesis”) is providing notice of a data event that may impact the confidentiality of information related to certain individuals.

What Happened? On May 20, 2024, Allied Telesis became aware of suspicious activity potentially involving our network and promptly began an investigation into the nature and scope of the activity. Our investigation determined that an unauthorized actor gained access to certain Allied Telesis systems between April 30, 2024, and May 20, 2024, and removed certain files from our system during that time. We promptly launched a thorough review of the impacted files in order to identify their contents and to whom they relate. This review was recently completed.

What Information Was Involved? Our review determined that the following types of information were present in the impacted data set: Social Security number, date of birth, driver's license number or state identification number, Passport number, taxpayer identification number, tribal identification number, student identification number, United States alien registration number, taxpayer/international taxpayer identification number, employer identification number, employer assigned identification number, financial account information, payment card information, digital/electronic signature, medical information, and health insurance information. The impacted information varies by individual.

What Allied Telesis Is Doing. We take the security of information in our care very seriously. Upon becoming aware of the issue, we promptly launched an investigation into the nature and scope of the event and notified federal law enforcement. We have also implemented additional cybersecurity measures to protect against similar incidents in the future.

What Affected Individuals Can Do. As a precautionary measure, Allied Telesis encourages individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft by reviewing account statements, credit reports, and explanations of benefits for unusual activity and to detect errors. Any suspicious activity should be promptly reported to one’s health care provider, insurance company, or financial institution. We are offering complimentary credit monitoring services to individuals whose Social Security number was impacted or where otherwise required. Please call the dedicated toll-free assistance line for additional information. You can review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Your Information to learn helpful tips on steps you can take to protect against possible information misuse, should you feel it is appropriate to do so.

For More Information. Allied Telesis is mailing notice to impacted individuals for whom it has address information. It is also notifying potentially impacted individuals through the issuance of a media notice. Individuals seeking additional information regarding this event may contact Allied Telesis using a dedicated toll-free assistance line that has been established at 1-833-745-0871, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:00am to 8:00pm Central Time, excluding major U.S. holidays. You may also write to Allied Telesis at 3041 Orchard Parkway, San Jose, CA 95134.

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO HELP PROTECT YOUR INFORMATION

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

Consumers may further educate themselves regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps they can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or their state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. Consumers can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. Consumers have the right to file a police report if they ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, consumers will likely need to provide some proof that they have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and the relevant state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.
